THE UK'S MILITARY
SPENDING IS £39BN
EVERY YEAR.

ENOUGH TO
STOP THE CUTS
TO THE NHS. TWICE.

The UK's military spending is the fourth highest in the world. Meanwhile vital public services face drastic spending cuts. Take part in the Global Day of Action on Military Spending on 15 April 2013.

'What if military spending were cut?'

Public meeting, 15 April, 5pm-6.30pm, Committee Room 6 at the Houses of Parliament (Please arrive in good time to get through security)

On the Global Day of Action on Military Spending, take part in a public meeting to examine the social justice possibilities of redirecting military spending, chaired by Bruce Kent, Vice President of the Movement for the Abolition of War, with speakers Caroline Lucas MP, Kate Hudson of CND, John Hilary of War on Want, and Anne-Marie O'Reilly of Campaign Against Arms Trade, and the launch of Pax Christi's new short film on the theme of the event.

Meeting called by Movement for the Abolition of War with others involved in the network for the Global Day of Action.

Creative action on Military Spending

15 April, 9am in Old Palace Yard outside Parliament

Join us as we take the message to Parliament that the billions spend on weapons and military can be better used on education, health, and development. There are better things to spend £39 billion on!

Help swell numbers, give out leaflets, hear messages of support, and take part in a creative street theatre stunt.

The day is supported by 39 organisations in the UK – all speaking with one voice: Cut military spending!

Please help spread the word!
